Mohammad Naderitabar

Ph.D. Candidate
Institute for International Economic Studies
Stockholm University

Phone: +46 76 634 9826
Email: mohammad.naderitabar@iies.su.se

Education

Ph.D. Economics, Stockholm University, 2022–Now

M.Sc. Economics, Sharif University of Technology, 2018–2021

B.Sc. Electrical Engineering, Sharif University of Technology, 2013–2018

Research Interests

Macroeconomics, Development Economics, Industrial Organization

Work in Progress

Who Gains from Growth? Rethinking the Cost of Living across Multiple Countries Joint with Mehdi Amani

(Almost) Nonlinear Solution to Complex Rational Expectation Models Joint with Alireza Azampour

Information and Market Power Joint with Jonas Overhage and Jacob Granqvist

Marriage market and Wealth Inequality Joint with Ehsan Sabouri

Teaching (Teaching Assistant)

Macroeconomics I, Ph.D., Stockholm University, Winter 2024

Mathematics II, Ph.D., Stockholm University, Fall 2023

Professional Experience

Pricing Data Scientist, Divar, 2021–2022
Pricing strategy, experimentation, and structural economic modeling

Awards & Honors

Ranked 3rd by cumulative GPA among the 2018 M.Sc. Economics cohort, Sharif University of Technology, 2021

Ranked 3rd in Iran's nationwide graduate-level Economics entrance examination, 2018

Ranked 65th among more than 150,000 participants in Iran's nationwide Mathematics and Physics university entrance examination, 2013

Programming

Python, MATLAB, C, C++, Java, R, Stata, LaTeX

Languages

Persian (native), English (fluent), Swedish (upper-intermediate)